Mayor Attends Senior Day at Atlantic Rehabilitation

Adonis Basil hosted a day at the farm for hundreds of seniors at his Legend Equestrian and Atlantic Rehabilitation Institute on Saturday.

The institute is the centerpiece of a sprawling 30-acre horse farm dotted with stables, pastures and riding trails at 1800 Millstone Road.

Guests were given a tour of the facilities by Basil, including a stop at the stables for a visit with two of the farm's therapy horses.

Basil, who purchased the property in December, 2015, is a licensed physical therapist, certified in several specialties. He has designed a treatment protocol that integrates the movement and motions of riding a horse to treat patients, many of whom are young children and service veterans.

The guests enjoyed a barbecue lunch, as well as a performance by the Rockettes and Rockets dance troupe.

Department Updates

Building Department

Things to Know if You Are Planning to Install a Deck

This summer, if you are planning on installing a deck, there are a few things you need to know.

First visit the Hillsborough Zoning Department to obtain a Zoning permit. Before submitting to the Building Department, it is suggested that you pick up a handout for deck installations and read it through carefully. The Building Department application will require the following documents:

- Zoning approval
- Permit application folder
- Building Subcode Technical section (tech card). Please note that additional tech cards may be required if you are installing Electric or Plumbing.
- If you have hired a builder, include a copy of the Home Improvement license
- 2 copies of plans are required (plan requirements/details are in the Deck Handout). In New Jersey, only Home Owners and Design Professionals (i.e - Architect or Engineer) are allowed to draw these plans. Your contractor is not permitted to draw the plans.

For any additional questions, please contact the Building Department or stop in for further information.

Engineering

New Amwell Road Repavement - Residents Should Schedule New Utility Hook-Ups ASAP

The Engineering Department would like to inform residents that New Amwell Road will be repaved in the next few weeks. The Township requests that residents who live on the section of roadway being repaved and that have planned new utility hook-ups to their homes, should arrange for them to be completed ASAP. Utility hook-up usually requires an excavation of the roadway and the Township requests this to be completed prior to the repaving.

Additionally, deteriorated curbs on the section of the roadway being repaved will be replaced. Affected residents will be without use of their driveways approximately 3-5 days. Residents will be notified of parking arrangements.

Fire Safety

Fireworks Safety

Fireworks are often used to mark special events and holidays. However, they are not safe in the hands of consumers. Fireworks cause thousands of burns and eye injuries each year. People can enjoy fireworks safely if they follow a few simple safety tips:

BE CAREFUL!

- Be safe. If you want to see fireworks, go to a public show put on by experts.
- Do not use consumer fireworks.
- Keep a close eye on children at events where fireworks are used.

CONSUMER FIREWORKS

NFPA is opposed to consumer use of fireworks. This includes sparklers and firecrackers. Even sparklers burn hot enough to cause third-degree burns.

FACTS

- ! Fireworks cause an average of almost 18,500 reported fires per year.
- ! Sparklers account for roughly one-quarter of emergency room fireworks injuries.

Lyme Disease Prevention

Warm weather is finally here and we are all spending more time outdoors. Although we are getting fresh air and exercise, we are also exposed to ticks which carry disease. The most prevalent tick borne disease is Lyme Disease, which is carried by the Deer Tick, otherwise known as the Black Legged Tick. Click below to view an educational video about tick bite prevention put together by the Hillsborough Health Department.

Heatwave Safety

In recent years, excessive heat has caused more deaths than all other weather events, including floods. A heat wave is a prolonged period of excessive heat, generally 10 degrees or more above average, often combined with excessive humidity.

To prepare for a heat wave:

- Listen to local weather forecasts and stay aware of upcoming temperature changes.
- Be aware of both the temperature and the heat index. The heat index is the temperature the body feels when the effects of heat and humidity are combined. Exposure to direct sunlight can increase the heat index by as much as 15° F.
- Discuss heat safety precautions with members of your household. Have a plan for wherever you spend time and prepare for the possibility of power outages.
- Check the contents of your emergency disaster kit (bug out bag) in case a power outage occurs.
- Know those in your neighborhood who are elderly, young, sick or overweight. They are more likely to become victims of excessive heat and may need help.
- If you do not have air conditioning, choose places you could go to for relief from the heat during the warmest part of the day (schools, libraries, theaters, malls).
- Be aware that people living in urban areas may be at greater risk from the effects of a prolonged heat wave than are people living in rural areas.
- Get trained in First Aid to learn how to treat heat-related emergencies.
- Ensure that your animals' needs for water and shade are met.

American Red Cross Heatwave Safety Checklist

Stay Hydrated

The Importance of Good Hydration

Water is essential for life, and maintaining hydration is important for physical and mental performance. The human body is largely made of water. Although we can live for up to 50 days without food, without water we will survive only a few days, even in a cool climate. Most people do not drink enough water.

Good Hydration Cuts the Risk of Disease. Research shows that good hydration cuts the risk of breast cancer by 79%, reduces the risk of colon cancer by 45% & slashes the risk of bladder cancer by 50%.

Good Hydration Enhances Mental Clarity. A drop of just 2% in body water causes short term memory problems and significant difficulties with concentration. Good hydration helps you become mentally alert throughout the day.

Mild dehydration occurs when you lose 3 - 5% of your body weight through loss of fluids. Signs include:

- Dry mouth and lips; mouth may also feel a bit gummy or sticky
- Difficulty concentrating
- Fatigue
- Elevated heart rate
- Headache
- Dizziness

Water leaves our bodies through skin and in breath all the time, amounting to about 1.5 pints each day. We lose another 0.2 pints through feces, about 1.6 quarts as urine and 0.4 pints in normal perspiration. So, even living and breathing in a temperate climate requires about 2.6 quarts a day. Exercise and rises in temperature increases perspiration, loss of water and hence fluid requirements. During sickness and diarrhea, losses of water will also increase considerably.

"The general guideline is to pay attention to your thirst," dietitians say.

- The conventional wisdom of eight, 8-ounce glasses a day has been tossed aside see below;
- The International Sports Medicine Institute has a formula for daily water intake: 1/2 ounce per pound of body weight if you're not active (that's ten eight-ounce glasses if you weigh 160 pounds), and 2/3 ounce per pound if you're active (13-14 glasses a day, at the same weight).
- The hotter your surroundings, the more fluids you will need to consume
- The more you exercise the more fluids you will need to consume
- Liquids other than water count, as do water-rich food like fruits and vegetables

Eat water-rich foods like watermelon. Juice, soups, fruits, vegetables, and milk are 80-90 % water.

This lesson plan is intended for general information purposes only. It should not be construed as legal advice or legal opinion regarding any specific or factual situation.
